

① <sup>Importance</sup> Human values - Human values are most important in life, so important that people are ~~to~~ should to be ready to sacrifice almost anything to live with their values. Honesty, integrity, love and happiness are some of the end values or destination values that human value beings seek to attain, practice and live with.

Human value - Human values are the virtues that guide us to take into account the human element when we interact with other human beings. Human values are, for example, respect, acceptance, consideration, appreciation, listening, openness, affection, empathy and love ~~for~~ towards other human beings.

② Sympathy - Sympathy is the perception, ~~the~~ understanding and reaction to distress, on need of another life form. According to David Hume, this sympathetic concern is driven by a switch in viewpoint from a personal perspective to the perspective of another group or individual who is in need.

Empathy - Empathy is the capacity to understand or feel what another person is experiencing from within their frame of reference, that is, the capacity to place on self in another's position. Motivations of empathy encompass a ~~wide~~ broad of emotional state.

③ Code of Professional Ethics - A code of ethics is a guide of principles designed to help professionals conduct business honestly and with integrity. A code of ethics document may outline the mission and values of the business or organization, how professionals are supposed to approach problems, the ethical principles based on organization's core values, and the standards to which the ~~pro~~ professional is held.